Section 2-205(a) of District Ordinance No. 112 provides as follows:

Construction Service. For all new service connections, where a County building permit is also required, the connection is considered to be a construction service until: 1) The County Building and Planning Department issues final approval for occupancy, and 2) the District Architect issues a compliance certificate certifying that all conditions of the development review approval have been satisfied. All construction service water usage shall be paid at a rate established by the Brooktrails Board of Directors. When items 1) and 2) above have been met, the service will automatically convert to regular water service. If regular water service has not been obtained in one year from the date of the construction service issuance, all water service shall be terminated unless an extension approval has been granted by the General Manager. To obtain an extension approval, applicant must submit a written explanation as to why the project has not yet qualified for regular water service. The General Manager has full discretion in granting an extension approval.
